

About This Site

Category: About Steve Davies - Site Introduction

I am an entrepreneur and work with business owners to help them run their business better. This site contains articles based on my experience covering the range of issues that come up in business.

You have probably discovered already that experience is what you get when you don't get what you want and here is where I share my own hard-won experience.

You'll find one-liners, longer articles, insights from clients and useful resources. My intention is to create a site that gives you ideas on how to handle most of the issues and opportunities that every business owner faces. I update weekly, including the Steve-isms, so check back regularly.

When I post new content I announce it on Twitter at <http://twitter.com/SteveDaviesEdge> so if you want to be updated follow me there.

If you think I can help you resolve the business issues you are facing, or if you are looking for a speaker on business topics, don't hesitate to contact me.
